The Native Plant Salvage Foundation supports WSU Cooperative Extension's Native Plant Salvage Project. Our volunteers and staff:

- ✧ Salvage native plants from areas slated for clearing
- ✧ Restore natural areas with appropriate native plant species
- ✧ Install model gardens and Learning Landscapes to demonstrate the benefits of native plants in protecting water resources and providing habitat
- ✧ Provide workshops to teach participants how to identify plants, protect water resources, improve wildlife habitat and reduce landscape maintenance costs and effort

Your donation supports the Project directly by providing:

- ✧ Materials to install and maintain demonstration gardens/learning landscapes
- ✧ Equipment and supplies for field work
- ✧ Soil and other supplies for the holding beds
- ✧ Food to fuel volunteers on cold winter days

Enclosed is my tax-deductible donation of:

- $100 Western Redcedar
- $50 Black Cottonwood
- $25 Red-flowering Currant
- $15 Snowberry
- $5 Bleeding Heart
